Turning the Hearts of Children Towards their Fathers - Breakfast with Dad

For the first 20 pairs of P1 & P2 fathers & sons only

Father-child relationship is a significant factor in the emotional and cognitive development of a child. Studies have shown that fathers who are actively involved, their children are more likely to be emotionally secure, confident in exploring their surroundings, have high self-esteem, and have better social connections with peers.

This 2-hour workshop utilizes experiential learning activities to coach fathers to relate with their children, and do it in a way that appeals to their nature of being fun and active partners in parenting. Father & son also share the preparation of a breakfast meal together. The trainer from Centre For Fathering will create an experience that is fun and impactful for both father and son.
